

How To Plan The Perfect Destination Wedding In 5 Easy Steps Without Getting Overwhelmed

Destination weddings are becoming one of the most popular kinds of modern weddings available. Who doesn't love the idea of running away to somewhere beautiful and new to start the next chapter of their life? Still, many people shy away from this idea because they think it is more difficult to plan than a traditional wedding. In reality, planning a destination wedding is easy with the right people involved. In this article, we will discuss the five steps to take when planning a destination wedding.

Choose Your Location

Finding the right destination wedding location is different for every couple. You and your partner might want to go somewhere beautiful and sunny, or somewhere filled with a rich and vibrant culture. Take some time to decide what kind of climate you want and during which time of year, then make a list of your favorite options and decide on one together.

Confirm The Guest List

When it comes to planning a destination wedding, your guest list is crucial. Chances are that you won't have a large wedding since traveling will be a requirement. Get together with your partner and decide who you absolutely must have at the wedding. After the list is complete, contact everyone on it to see who can go. It is important to have a general idea of travel costs before calling.

Choose Your Venue

After you have settled on a location and know the size of your wedding party, it is time to pick a venue. Look for venues with good reviews that also offer assistance with destination weddings. It is helpful if the venue can help manage any catering, photography, or design components to make your wedding a stress-free celebration.

Find A Hotel

In addition to a good venue, you will need to find a hotel to stay at. Many couples prefer their entire bridal party stay at one hotel so that they can easily get together and head over for the big celebration. Ask around to find a hotel that offers discounts for these kinds of events. You might even end up with a little extra generosity from the hotel!

Keep Everyone Updated

If you want to know the real secret to staying stress-free during your destination wedding planning, it is keeping everyone in the loop. As you make these plans and begin to pull together the details of your wedding, make sure everyone stays informed. This means letting your guests know everything as soon as possible including dates, locations, potential deals, and dress code.

Conclusion

A destination wedding is the perfect way to start off a new phase of your life. As you unite with your partner, think about how you both can work to make it a completely special event for both of you. Many couples use this as a chance to have a fairytale wedding and start their honeymoon the moment that the wedding is over. Find what works for you and ask for help when you need it!
